Get Involved

Every day at Bellevue-Santa Fe, parents, grandparents and other community members can be found working on campus—in the classrooms, the SciTech, the library, the garden and many other places. Volunteers are an essential and highly valued part of our school.

Families at Bellevue are expected to contribute at least six hours of service per month. This encourages parents to spend time in the classroom and work on school-related projects, thus providing them a first-hand understanding of student life.

Parents are also directly involved in policy and decision-making. Three parents serve on the seven-member school Governing Board that oversees budget and policy decisions.

In addition, family and community members are actively involved in a wide spectrum of other committees, from fundraising to technology and strategic planning.

Volunteering

An outstanding way to demonstrate that you care about a child's education is to become actively involved in their school. For this reason, we provide many different opportunities for parents and family members to volunteer at Bellevue-Santa Fe, including:

- Assisting in the classroom
- Fundraising
- Teaching electives
- Serving lunch
- Volunteering in the garden
- Helping with the yearbook
- Driving kids to field trips
- Planning social events
- Working in SciTech
- Assisting in the Library
- Joining our Technology committee
- Getting involved in our Visual and Performing Arts program

Thanks to the generosity and commitment of our school community, in the last ten years as a charter school, we have never had an important need that has gone unmet. The above list highlights just a few ways to get involved. If you have an idea on how you can contribute, please let us know!
